Jeff Becker G: Defend the Tenth Amendment, i.e., like following your Oath of Office. The word "marriage" does not appear anywhere in the federal Constitution, thus federal courts have absolutely NO jurisdiction and, as the Tenth Amendment clearly states, the issue... See More

Patrick Morrissey What would you suggest we do? We can't simply overrule the Supreme Court.

Jeff Becker Logan Wheatcraft The Tenth Amendment isn't just for keeping marriage issues at the state level. It's for pretty much everything else where the federal government has overstepped it's Constitutional authority. By standing up to the 10th Amendment, we can downsize DC and get their tentacles off of us on a whole ton of issues.

Phillip Hudok Mr. Morrissey, you took an oath to uphold the West Virginia Constitution. Two years ago, I asked you to examine Art. 6 Sec 47 which prohibits church incorporation. You said you were looking into it. No answer have I received. There will be no moral society and muzzled churches, hence the reason for Art. 6 Sec 47. What about your oath? www.hudok.info

Patrick Morrissey Phil, if we recall, you are involved in a pending case. As such, we will defer to communications with your attorney. If this is incorrect, please let us know. Thank you.

Phillip Hudok I'm sorry, I don't believe that I was notified of that. Could you give me the case number?

Patrick Morrissey Are you or were you not involved in the suit against the state of WV? Thanks

Phillip Hudok Is there a case pending? That is the 64 thousand dollar question. The reason that Pastor Butch, Pastor House, Gene Stalnaker and I met with your attorney, Steven Travis on January 22, 2015, centered on federal intrusion which is being addressed by you on this site. Since our petitions to all branches of West Virginia government about violations of our state constitution, went unanswered, we were forced to file a complaint, 15-0491 in the Supreme Court of Appeals on May 22, 2015. On September 5, one and only one of the three plaintiffs, Gene Stalnaker, received a letter from Clerk of Court, Rory L. Perry II, a notice that the Supreme Court had refused the "writ" (however, there were 16 writs)!

I was never notified. Were you? This country is about to erupt and to who's benefit? Maybe it is not too late for you to use the uniqueness of the 1872 West Virginia Constitution and how our state can be the key to a peaceful return to the Rule of Law and Constitutional government as intended by our founders.

Patrick Morrissey Jeff Becker, the WV Constitution should be located in the Archives inside the Capitol.

Jeff Becker Mr. Morrissey, "should be"? You mean that you don't know for sure? Have you ever seen it? Myself and others have been looking for this document for the past three years and even the archivist doesn't know where it is. We get all kinds of guesses as to where it "is" or "should be," from the likes of elected and past Delegates and State Senators but have yet to see either an image of it or even a written record that it ever existed in the first place. The two seemingly authoritative history books on the West Virginia Constitution by legal scholars Bob Bastress and John Stealey both completely omit references to the extant document, it's ratification signing, and contain no images of it. The only thing that seems to exist are the notes in a journal of the scribe present at the Wheeling convention - but those are only signed by the scribe and are thus not legally valid! So WHERE IS IT? If the West Virginia Constitution truly doesn't exist, then we are all living in a state of legal fiction. OK, who wants to touch this JUICY CAN OF WORMS next?
