

Things didn't work out the way that many had hoped and expected. The mindset and narrative have changed.

Here are three examples:

Many people trusted in a plan. But, draining the swamp hasn't happened. People are looking elsewhere. Is there an opportunity for increased awareness in the arbitration award, the Bill of Peace?

Assuming there is, future plans are being formulated. Beginning in the latter part of March, a coordinated presence on new and previously used media platforms is being formulated.
